Due to the high index of cooperation with foreign partners in specialists in various fields, the demand for language learning is high in them. In modern society, foreign languages are becoming an important component of professional education. Such knowledge is learned by people, first in schools, colleges, lyceums, later in institutes, educational courses or independently, familiarizing themselves with the main sets of information that help to learn a foreign language. Today there are large collections of educational materials for people with different levels of language knowledge. Success in achieving this goal depends on the practical methods and qualifications of the teachers. The ability to use information technology and modern teaching methods helps to quickly understand new materials.<sup>1</sup> by combining different methods, the teacher will be able to solve certain educational programs. In this regard, teachers and students should familiarize themselves with modern methods of teaching foreign languages. As a result, skills are formed to be able to choose the most effective methods to achieve their goals. In this case, the use of several methods of teaching and learning gives an effective result. Training is carried out in small stages and is based on the existing knowledge system of the student.<sup>2</sup> as the time progresses, there is an increase in innovation in every area. Different styles are also emerging in Language Teaching. When teaching English, it is good to teach step by step, based on the capacity and level of the learner, their age. In this, students are divided into those on the basis of teaching at the primary level, teaching at the intermediate level, teaching at the higher level. For each stage, a special program is developed from the teacher's side. Although grammar and vocabulary are considered the main thing, if the speaker's pronunciation is irregular, then this is all useless. Native speakers can also understand speech with grammatical errors if the speaker pronounces the words Round.<sup>3</sup> therefore, when teaching, the main emphasis is first placed on pronunciation. In doing so, benefiting from the various audios of native speakers gives a good result. The teacher should teach how to pronounce letters, words Round during the lesson. As such, at the initial stage, great attention is paid to oral speech and the cultivation of reading techniques. If we consider in this regard the types of speech activities of teaching a foreign language, it is necessary to carry out the following tasks when teaching them:

- a) generating a reading mechanism;
- b) growing oral reading techniques;
- c) teaching to understand what he studied .

Anyone who wants to learn a foreign language perfectly can master it even on their own. But for this, a person must be psychologically ready to learn a language. Learning a foreign language requires a little diligence from a person, a solid Will and an order-based day plan. The majority of language learners today are between the ages of 17-35. A foreign language can be learned not only with the help of a teacher, but also independently. To do this, however, it is necessary to follow the following:

1. Regularly engage in the language as much as possible every day. In this case, the duration of training is determined based on a specific system, as in sports training.

2. Drawing up a study plan. After a little class, it is possible to announce a break and listen to music or go for a walk.

3. Vocabulary is a good way. One should never learn individual words, except that learning in a superimposed, contextual state gives a good result.

4. Keep a side ledger. It is also of great benefit to try to use Joint words written in a notebook, in communication.

5. Seal in memory. Imaginative advertising, trying to translate the words of the song, dialogues.

6. Memorization is a useful exercise. Memorizing words that are correct and checked by teachers is darcor.

7. Memorizing phrases. It is necessary to write down phrases and wise words and immediately keep them in memory.

8. Not limited to theory. It is also necessary to pay attention to practical exercises. Watching movies, reading various literature and newspapers, chatting online with friends who speak English.

9. Getting used to correcting mistakes. It is imperative that you never and nothing be left unchecked, without verification.

10. Self-confidence. For nothing, one should stop learning the language.

Content expressed in language should be related to the life, diary of students, on the other hand, activities or tasks that motivate students to communicate should be interesting and important to them. During the lesson, students understand themselves as part of the lesson and behave in the course of the lesson as if they were the hero of the work, trying to do this. In students, learning foreign languages is usually very effective and successful when learned in a way that uses vital process and game-based modes of action. If a foreign language is taught through playful-plot processes, all students willingly participate, the reason is that they feel that this way they are part of that process. What is an obstacle to learning a foreign language?

- Failure to notice the result;
- I have a bad memory, I can't remember words;
- Language learning-very boring;
- I don't understand grammar at all;
- It takes a lot of time for the learning process;

It is very expensive; this is how fantasies should not let the reader back down. All these are some manifestations of laziness that the reader should instill in himself that it is not all so scary. If a student wants to learn a foreign language with a teacher: find "his" teacher; determine the volume of work; practice 3-5 times a week; do large-scale homework; do not neglect Writing; try to talk to a native speaker darcor. If the student wants to learn a foreign language independently:

1. Well, choosing a real textbook. This is important for those who study without the help of a teacher: the textbook helps the student to structure knowledge and correctly "dose" it.

2. Learn words by heart. This is convenient for Learning English quickly: they memorize not one word, but whole phrases of the topic of interest to them.

3. Repetition of thematic texts. This technique will help the reader learn the necessary vocabulary, help him remember frequently used phrases.

4. Repetition of what the student has learned. One should not rush to "swallow" a layer of English quickly, it is necessary to devote time to reviewing the previously studied material, otherwise it will fly away from the reader's memory very quickly.

5. Immersion in the language environment. In order to learn English faster, it is necessary to try to create a decent language environment around. Listening to Audio material, with podcasts, the reader can develop an understanding by listening to English. Summarizing these briefly, if the reader begins to learn a language following the above advice and steps, they will certainly reach their intended goal.
